

Satellite Is Orbiting With Secret Payload

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Discoverer No. 25 satellite was circling the earth every 91 minutes today, carrying a secret payload the Air Force hopes to recover in 1 to 4 days.

The 2,100-pound satellite, 18th in a series to achieve polar orbit, blasted into space through heavy fog at 4:03 p. m., Pacific Daylight Time Friday.

Because of the fog, newsmen a mile from the launch area were unable to see either the missile or its exhaust. But they heard its roar as it sped upward.

An hour and 45 minutes later, tracking stations in Hawaii and Alaska reported the space vehicle was in orbit.

Since the first Discoverer launching Feb. 28, 1959, only seven have failed to orbit. But the figures on capsule recovery are much less impressive.

Twenty of them have had the capability for ejecting space capsules, but so far only four capsules have been recovered.

In keeping with custom, the Air Force declined to say what type of gear the latest 300-pound capsule contained. Officials would neither confirm nor deny that sky-spy camera equipment for the projected Samos satellite surveillance system was aboard.

Plans call for the Discoverer No. 25 to remain aloft as long as possible—perhaps the full four days—so instruments may gather maximum data.

Weather and the condition of the vehicle will be the determining factors.

After the capsule is ejected over Alaska, cargo planes will try to hook its parachute as it drifts down near Hawaii. Failing this, surface ships will attempt to recover it from the sea.

The satellite was orbiting with an apogee (highest point) of 250 statute miles and a perigee (low point) of 140 statute miles.

Kennedy Favors His Ailing Back

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy came in through a service door at the back of a downtown hotel's ball room today to make his foreign aid speech today, as a measure to save his ailing back.

It was the President's first formal public appearance since he began using crutches after suffering his back injury.

He got around with no indication of discomfort, but still used the crutches. He used both feet but appeared to favor the left—the one he was holding clear of the floor a few days back.

And he sat down through his address.

It was the first time photographers had had an unobstructed shot at him standing since the crutches came into use. In previous less formal appearances there had been a screen of Secret Service men and others which usually allowed only a partial view.

The back door used for his entrance to the Hotel Shoreham ball room is about 9 feet wide and some 13 inches above outside ground level. A carpeted, gently sloping ramp was there to help with the rise.

Kennedy had no apparent difficulty with that, nor with a couple of steps of perhaps three or four inches each up to the speaker's platform. He had about 10 steps to make after he got inside.

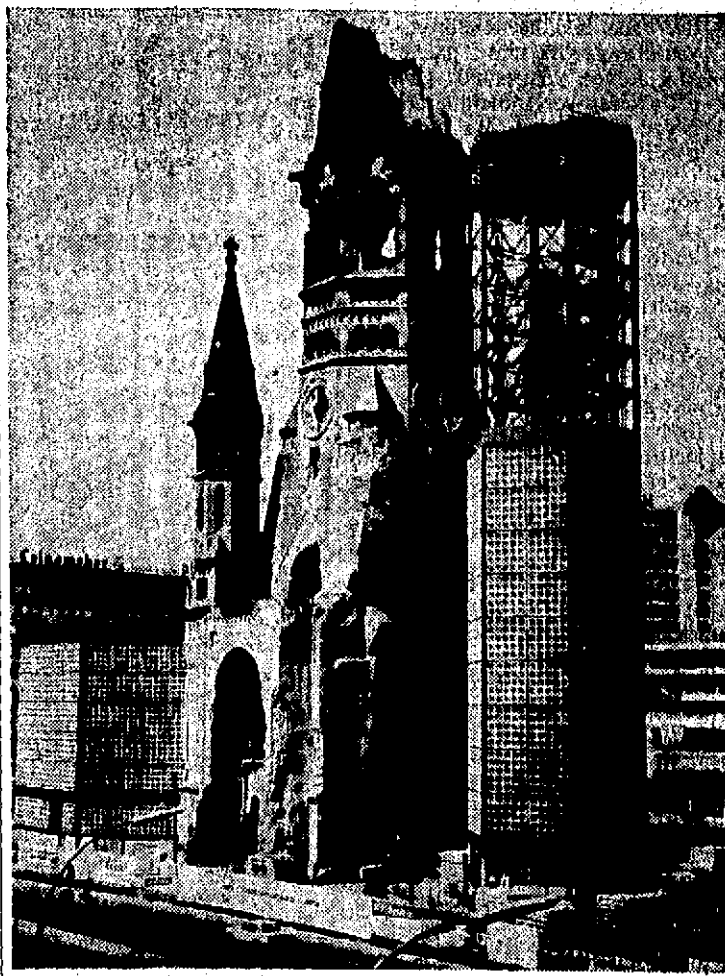

At the conclusion of the address, Kennedy left by the same route, entering the White House automobile standing nearby.

The door he used normally serves to get big exhibit items in and out of the ball room.

Likes Long Term Foreign Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—David E. Lilienthal said today congressional approval of President Kennedy's long-term foreign assistance program would give the United States its "greatest opportunity since the end of the war."

Lilienthal, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and now chairman of the Development and Resources Corp., blamed the absence of a long-range feature for the faltering of previous overseas aid plans.

All Not Rosy for Adlai on Latin Tour

By MAX HARRELSON

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson left for Peru today expressing sympathy to the families of five leftist demonstrators killed in a night of rioting in this capital.

La Paz was quiet but about 30 students, who locked themselves in a university building after battling police, were still there.

Stevenson was not directly involved in the rioting, which began out in scattered section of La Paz and left 26 injured.

Although there were some shouts of "Down with Yankee imperialism," the leftists apparently had timed their demonstrations mainly to embarrass President Victor Paz Estenssoro during Stevenson's visit.

Bolivian Foreign Minister Eduardo Arze Quiroga, who saw Stevenson off at the airport, said President Kennedy's personal envoy had fruitful talks with Paz Estenssoro.

Arze Quiroga added that Bolivia is in favor of postponing for a few weeks the Inter-American Economic and Social Council meeting to deal with Kennedy's alliance-for-progress program for Latin America. He gave no reason.

Heroin Smuggler Is Sentenced

NEW YORK (AP)—A former French airline hostess convicted of trying to smuggle a half-million dollars worth of heroin into the United States was sentenced today to 10 years in prison.

Simone Marcelle Christmann, 35, the defendant, collapsed in tears as sentence was pronounced by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Walter Bruchhausen. The sentence was the highest possible maximum.

Miss Christmann was arrested March 21 at Idlewild Airport when customs agents found the narcotics secreted in plastic bags under her uniform when she arrived aboard a flight from Paris. She said she thought the substance was essence of perfume.

She said she had brought the "essence" as a favor for a Mr. Mueller.

The prosecution said the story of a Mr. Mueller was a fabrication and asked for a maximum sentence.

A jury found her guilty on May 23 after a trial in which she wept constantly.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was unseasonably cool in Arkansas today, but the U.S. Weather Bureau said no records were set.

The Weather Bureau said the cool weather would remain through Saturday and that it would start getting warmer again by Sunday.

Warmer tomorrow.

Quake Rocks Oil Field Area

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—A severe earthquake today rocked the thinly populated oil field area near Barrancabermeja, in north-central Colombia. No casualties were reported but the Geophysical Institute of the Andes said the earthquake was the most severe in 10 years. The shock was felt in Bucaramanga, 60 miles from epicenter, 190 miles north of Bogota.

Chauvel's comments on the cease-fire were the first in a new outbreak of wrangling over the sporadic fighting still going on in the little Southeast Asian kingdom.

Within the commission, there was also disagreement on what its inspection rights should be.

U. S. Demands Czech Spy Leave Country

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. spy charges against a handsome Czech diplomat and his counter-claim that American intelligence tried to hire him landed on U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's desk today.

Central figure in the drama is Miroslav Navacek, 39, No. 3 man in the Czech U.N. mission. He declared he will ignore U.S. demands that he leave the country until he gets instructions from his government.

A U.N. spokesman said Hammarskjöld is studying a U.S. request that Navacek be expelled on grounds he had been collecting information from an American government worker for almost a year.

Also before the secretary-general was a protest from the Czech U.N. mission claiming U.S. agents had dangled promises of unlimited wealth before Navacek if he would become a spy for the United States.

Both the U.S. and Czech accounts were replete with cloak and dagger details including threats of blackmail and violence, but the facts varied sharply.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White gave this account to newsmen in Washington:

Navacek made contact about a year ago with an American, then a government employee, and demanded his cooperation threatening that the American's fiancée in Czechoslovakia would be prevented from joining him in the United States.

"She was used as a hostage to force the individual's cooperation in espionage activities," White said.

White said Navacek not only used threats but indicated there was a possibility he might defect and remain in the United States.

"Let me make clear, however, that in fact the American citizen was cooperating with this government while seeming to act under Navacek's instructions," White said.

The spokesman said the American had access to classified U.S. information, but that he furnished only "purported" secrets to Navacek.

He added that the American was of Czech origin. The department declined further comment.

France Calls for Cease Fire in Laos

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

GENEVA (AP)—France today called on the international conference on Laos to give true teams new orders and equipment for enforcing the Laotian cease-fire.

"The cease-fire does not exist as yet," said Jean Chauvel of France in an allusion to repeated Communist violations of the truce.

Chauvel said the International Control Commission, hamstrung by lack of transport and guidance, should get "the directives it requests and the means it declares are needed for its work."

He defended French proposals for establishing Laos as a neutral buffer state on the borders of Communist China and for guaranteeing its independence.

Replying to Communist criticism, Chauvel said the French plan would give the control commission no powers of management, legislation or administration that could be interpreted as interference in the internal affairs of Laos.

He said the commission's role should be limited to reporting events in Laos to the conference.

Chauvel's comments on the cease-fire were the first in a new outbreak of wrangling over the sporadic fighting still going on in the little Southeast Asian kingdom.

Won't Make Riders Pick Cotton

PARCHMAN, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's state prison boss today said he doesn't plan to put 45 transferred "Freedom Riders" to "If we work them, we'll work cotton fields."

Prison Supt. Fred Jones said he thought the prison would have more trouble if the riders were out working with other prisoners.

"If we work them, we'll work them out of the maximum security unit," he said, "probably cutting weeds along ditch banks."

The riders were sent from Jackson jails Thursday to the sprawling state prison farm here.

JFK Appeals for Foreign Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, appealing for support of his foreign aid program, said today he is less concerned about the dangers of spending too much too often than of spending too little too late.

Kennedy took that stand in an address prepared for the National Conference on International Economic and Social Development.

It came at a time when his aid program for other nations is up against rough going in Congress. Kennedy wants a five-year $4.8 billion program, but strong elements in Congress are balking at such a long-term basis.

The President appealed to those who want to do something about bolstering the defense of freedom, stopping the spread of communism, and exercising initiative in world affairs, to get behind the foreign aid plan.

"We do not intend," he said, "to go on indefinitely helping those who will not help themselves—those whose only claim to consideration is that they are alternatives to communism—those who are unwilling to put into effect the reforms in administration, education, taxation and social justice without which our aid will be of very little value."

We intend to achieve results—to put these countries on their own feet.

"But let us at the same time recognize that this challenge will be with us for a long time—that this is both an obligation and an opportunity—and that more than self-interest and anticommunism are involved. Let it never be said that the great conflict of our time was between the unrighteous and the self-righteous."

"But let it be said instead that this generation of Americans—jealous of its rights and aware of its responsibilities, grateful for its blessings and vigilant to its dangers—met head on the grim challenge to freedom—met it with all the resources and all the wisdom at our command—and, meeting it, prevailed."

Kennedy's audience was a sympathetic one. A principal purpose of the conference is to foster the views Kennedy expounded, and the 1,200 delegates attending had heard a series of earlier speakers back long-range foreign aid.

One such speaker was David Lunn, who said congressional approval of Kennedy's foreign assistance program would give the United States its "greatest opportunity since the end of the war."

Not long after Miss May started work at the Julia Chester 36 years ago a relative had to go to the hospital. It was a child who called her Aunt Sadie, the only name he knew. Well, the name stuck in the minds of many of the hospital personnel, particularly Dr. Life, and for years Miss May has been called Aunt Sadie by those who know and love her.

To them it is not surprising that her church affiliation has already been moved from a local Baptist Church to the Lakeside Baptist Church in Texarkana. She will also be taking care of her mother and sister, as both are ill, while living at her new address. The hospital has been her home on and off duty, for she lived there 31 years. Yes, she likes to do handwork in her spare time. As a matter of fact, during the depression of the 30's, there was so much of that stuff called "spare time" she completed quite a bit of crochet and embroidery for gifts as well as an afghan and a bedspread.

After Serving Her Fellow Man for Many Years Nurse Sadie May to Continue Same Work

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Miss Sadie May, the longest local hospital employee in point of service, retired this week after 36 years.

On June 24, 1925, Miss May began work at the old Julia Chester Hospital across from the post office. Dr. L. M. Life had come to her home in Bodewy and solicited her services for his newly organized hospital staff. Dr. W. M. Garner had recommended her, and in her 36 years of faithful service his judgement has certainly been proven excellent.

About 20 years after she began work here practical nurses started receiving licenses with certain training as a prerequisite. Miss May had had so much actual experience, however, she did not need it and became a Registered Practical Nurse without additional training.

For 12 years she was on hospital night duty working a 12 hour shift. It would certainly seem that eventually she would have gotten an eight hour day, but not so. That was because Miss May became a surgical nurse and was always on call.

When the Hempstead County Memorial Hospital was constructed, Miss May went there from the Julia Chester as did Mattie, another familiar personality, who had begun work three years after our subject for today. Miss May has worked with the sick and injured a long time, but, fortunately, has lost very few days because of personal illness.

She remembers the first baby she assisted in delivering was the child of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Allen, who lived north of Hope. And speaking of new babies, there was excitement supreme when the Rogers triplets were born. My! Miss May will never forget that, and she says the three girls, Lula (for Dr. Life), Charlene (for the anesthetist, Charlie Wilson, now hospital superintendent), and Susan (for the local Presbyterian minister's wife) are still living and well.

Of the various kinds of nursing duty Miss May has performed which has she like best? Surgery, she answers quickly. "Perhaps that is because of long work with Dr. Life who always felt so accomplished after performing a successful operation," she explained. "He knew that surgery was the most that was humanly possible to do for so many, and he was outstanding as a surgeon, of course."

Dark red roses are her favorite flowers, and for a number of years the rose garden at the Julia Chester Hospital on Main Street was her pet project. She has another kind of pet now, a dog, who resides with her and Mrs. Lula Smith on South Elm and will definitely move to Texarkana with Miss May when she goes over there to live with her mother, her sister, and her brother-in-law.

MARSHFIELD, Mass. (AP) — It's a good guess that there'll be decorum and order in the classroom of Albert J. Simic takes over in September, even though it is his first teaching job.

Third Grade Talks About Parents

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y. (AP) —They yell, they're pretty nutty, but they're loved few samples of what some third graders think about their parents.

The 8-year-olds at Brooklyn Avenue School in the Long Island community were asked by their teacher, Annette Higgins, to write anonymously their views on three topics: Parents; School and teachers; Why people should like me.

On parents:
"Parents are o.k. I guess, but sometimes they yell and hit and that makes me mad. But no matter what I still love them."

"They're pretty nutty if you ask me."

"If both parents love you at the same time, that's great."

"They don't understand children very much."

"I think parents are lucky to have children."

On school and teachers:
"School is for children who want to learn. But if you don't want to learn you have to go anyway."

"If I never went to school we would be stupid but I would be happy."

On themselves:
"A lot of people like me but I don't know why."

"I try my best but still some people do not like me."

"I guess people like me because I am very nice."

"They like me because I am good-looking."

"I don't expect everyone to like me."

"My friends like me because I am not a big shot."

"I like me and people should like me. I don't see anything wrong with me."

The class which turned in the appraisals consists of 17 boys and 18 girls.

Mrs. Higgins, who has been teaching for four years, had nothing but praise for her pupils.

"Third graders are the best," she said, Wednesday. "They're quick and sharp." She added: "You can see the progress from one day to the next" and "I love them like my own."

All Not Rosy

In Lima, the guard was doubled at U.S. Embassy buildings and an extra 500 police, and troops, 150 plainclothesmen and 50 motorized policemen were mustered for Stevenson's visit. A Communist student leader threatened a "better reception" for Stevenson than the stoning that greeted Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Lima during his 1953 tour of Latin America.

The fighting in La Paz broke out when police tried to turn back a crowd of 200 marching on the presidential palace to protest the detention of persons arrested last week when the government said it had broken up a Communist plot. The demonstrators thought Stevenson and the president were meeting at the palace, but their talk had been shifted to Paz Estenssoro's residence at the last minute.

The police used tear gas and clubs on the crowd, and then shooting broke out. The police claimed they began shooting only after the demonstrators opened fire first with revolvers.

The demonstrations continued until late in the evening in widely scattered parts of La Paz. Stevenson and his party traveled by back streets as a precaution. It was the second violence of Stevenson's tour, which now has covered seven of the 10 capitals he is visiting. In Santiago, Chile, about 30 leftist youths smashed windows of the U.S. Information Agency. In Montevideo, Uruguay, leftist youths held an anti-U.S. rally but there was no violence.

As in the other nations visited, Stevenson's talks with Bolivian officials were mostly concerned with the coming meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council to deal with Kennedy's alliance-for-progress program of economic improvement for Latin America.

It was understood that most of the governments so far favor a two-week delay in the conference, now scheduled to start July 15 at the Uruguayan seaside resort of Punta Del Este.

Dear Helen: The only thing to do is tell your husband before this romance of yours is aired in court. Since you are all such good friends, how about sitting down and talking it over? That sounds unconventional but so is your love affair. Such conferences have been held with success before. You're probably in for a lot of trouble but you asked for it. Brace yourself for the storm and take what comes as courageously as has the other husband's wife—your friend!

Dear Helen: My husband's friends use him for a dependable drinking partner whenever he is available, usually when I talk of work to be done in the garden. When they deliver him home he can hardly stand up after the delight of their company. I am a good wife, homemaker and gardener. A number of other women are in the same boat with me. Have you any suggestions for us? —B. P.

Dear B. P.: The desire to quit drinking must come from the alcoholic himself. According to statistics, about one in 20 have the will to call it a day. Wives are rarely of help because, quite understandably, they nag, which is of no help at all. The best cure I've seen today is active membership in Alcoholics Anonymous. Consult the local group in your town. Also, you might suggest a physical check-up to your husband. Drinking to excess sometimes indicates a dietary deficiency.

Dear Helen: Our 18-year-old son took our car one morning after his father went to work. He wrecked the car. Now he wants us to buy him one when we haven't yet paid for. I am against teenagers having cars. Our boy has earned enough to buy a car himself but spent the money on a good time instead. He reads your column. Should we get him the car or make him buy one? —T. M. C.

Dear T. M. C.: If your son wants a car badly enough, he will earn the money to pay for it and in the doing not only appreciate the cost but be chary of wrecking such an investment.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal District Judge J. Smith Henley ruled Thursday that the Florida Real Estate Loan Co. may keep its offices in the Mississippi County Bank building at Osceola. The bank sought to evict the firm, one of the enterprises of Andrew and George Florida of Osceola, which is being operated by a receiver pending disposition of a tax suit.

The public recognition came when Earl Durham was named Worker Father of the Year by the National Fathers Day Committee for his community youth work.

From the first word of his selection until the Durhams and their four children took off for the East last weekend, their five-room white frame house in Louisville, Ky., rocked with excitement.

Mrs. Durham, a slim brunette, lost five pounds she'd rather have kept, in the frantic preparations for the trip sponsored by Durham's union and the tobacco company he has worked for for 25 years.

DOROTHY DIX

She Took "Love Thy Neighbor" Literally

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Mother died, leaving her home for my husband and me. It was his decision that we rent it furnished. We have been truly pleased with our tenants, a fine, responsible couple with children.

Concluding three years' residence, they recently moved, leaving left our premises improved by their occupancy. My husband wishes to continue our friendship.

Unknown to him are two years of love expressed voluntarily by me and the husband of the other woman, my friend. However guilty we might be judged by society, she understands, respects and even appreciates the mutual love her husband and I hold for each other. There is no resentment.

However, she does seek a divorce. My husband is a jealous person whom I hold with high regard but do not love with the depth I do this other man who sincerely loves and wants me. Where to from here? —Unhappy One

Says Father's Day Will Be Different

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Mother vowed that this year Father's Day would be different.

"Every year I give dad a necktie," she told her children. "Sis, you always give him a pair of socks. And Junior, you usually give him a tie clip—or something else he never wears and you happen to need."

"Well, this year why don't we give him a real surprise party to show how much we appreciate him? Why don't we treat him to a steak dinner at the best restaurant in town?"

So it was that on the evening of Father's Day a surprised dad was cajoled into putting on his best suit and escorted to the family bus. He was startled when Junior drove the car into the parking lot of the "Sirofin Gulch" restaurant.

"Hey," he protested. "We can't go in there. It's too expensive."

"Not tonight it isn't," said mother. "This treat is on us—and we want you to have the very best."

Well, dad was still a bit nervous when the shrimp salad arrived. But he began to relax when the waiter uncorked a bottle of red French wine, and put four great steaks and four steaming baked potatoes on the table.

"Gee, this is really nice—but you shouldn't have done it," he mumbled, his mouth full of rich juicy sirloin.

Junior lifted his glass in a toast to the best dad in the whole wide world.

"And the nicest," said Sis, lifting her glass.

"And the kindest and dearest and gentlest," said mother, looking over at him across many years of fondness. She didn't see a balding middle-aged man with a tubby stomach. She saw the man she had married, young and lean and full of eager dreams.

Later, after dessert, the lady at the nearby electronic organ broke into a medley of "Daddy, Dear Old Daddy" and "Oh, Papa."

Dad's eyes misted. He felt mellow and sentimental and terribly afraid he might break into tears.

It was at that moment the waiter put in front of him a bill for $26.38.

Mother gaily snatched it up, handed it to the waiter and said, "Pay the man."

"Me?" said Junior, I'm stony busted, mom. I was going to borrow my share from you." He put the bill in front of Sis.

"I was too," said Sis. She put the bill in front of mother.

"Oh, dear," said mother. "I meant to cash a check at the grocery store yesterday, but I..."

Silently dad emptied his pocket, including the $20

Oklahoman Defeated in Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—Jimmy Walker, 40-year-old former Scottish policeman, ended the cinderella story of Ralph Morrow, Oklahoma City airman, in the British Amateur Golf Tourney today by defeating the 27-year-old American 1 up in the 18-hole semifinal round.
Walker, who eliminated defending champion Joe Carr in the morning's quarter-finals, will meet Michael Bonalack, a British Walker Cup player, in Saturday's 36-hole final round.
Morrow was the last of the 29 Americans who entered the tourney last Monday. The Oklahoman is stationed at the nearby Prestwick Air Base. He beat Geoff Dixon of England, 3 and 2, in the morning round.
Walker, shooting a 69 on the 37-35-72 layout which nestles near the Firth of Clyde, was 1 up on the American at the turn. He was 2 up at the eleventh but Morrow had ended the count by the time they reached the seventeenth. Morrow also was under par, turning in a card of 70.

Students Ask Reassignment to Dollarway

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Four Negro students have asked to be reassigned from all-Negro Townsend Park School to the formerly all-white Dollarway School near here, a school spokesman said today.
The move was seen as a test of the Dollarway School Board's announced desegregation plan, which says no transfers are contemplated above the first grade level. All the reassignment requests came from students above the first grade.
The spokesman said the transfer requests were presented Thursday, just a few hours after the board announced that it had rejected the applications of two Negro children who sought to enter the Dollarway School as first graders.
There has been no statement on whether the denial of the first graders will be appealed under pupil placement laws.
Seeking transfers to Dollarway are John Lee York, 9, a fourth grader and brother of the girl who first integrated the school last year Charles Henry Dove, 8, a third grader and brother of one of the original plaintiffs in the 3-year-old Dollarway integration suit; Linda Liane Houston, 7, a second grader who was denied admission to the Dollarway first grade last year, and Michael Edwards, 7, a second grader.
The board set a hearing on the reassignment requests for 6 p. m. next Thursday. The spokesman said the hearing would be closed.
The Dollarway board is under orders to report to a federal court by July 15 its handling of pupil assignments this year under the desegregation plan, tentatively approved by District Judge J. Smith Henley.
In its plan, the board said it would assign entering first graders according to the wishes of their parents unless such assignments would be contrary to the state pupil placement law.
The board gave no reason for its rejection of two Negro first graders this year, but Board President Lee Paham said later they had low grades on tests given to all entering first graders of both

He said a meeting was arranged with Nacvalac last Tuesday at the Grisholm Restaurant in New York. The meeting was attended by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Lt. Col. SUSPENSE

A Short Short Story © 1961 by NEA, Inc.

LOVE IS A VERY STRANGE ADVENTURE

By LESTER ARNO

Manny is a Big City character. Manny is scarcely five feet tall. He has a child's body and an old man's face. His age? Manny is ageless because Manny has never grown up.
He takes his self-appointed place among the characters of the Big City after dark. Each night he wanders in from the West Side with his battered guitar and his cigar box of shoelaces.
His guitar is symbolic because in his confused head Manny fancies himself an entertainer. It has but two strings and half the frets are missing. But hot or cold, rain or shine, Manny wears it proudly. It is his badge of office.

The cigar box containing the shoelaces is the mark of Manny's profession. For he is not only a jester. He is also a businessman. True, the laces are dusty. True, no one has ever been known to take a pair, but they are for sale. And Manny mauls his transactions without ever disturbing his stock.
But this is a chronicle of the one great love in Manny's life. No actress, she; no ballerina; no night club singer.
She lived in a store window, for she was made of wire and wax and she wore the clothes that were put upon her.
Manny met her one night on his way home. It was spring and she was dressed in a gay print. She held a tennis racket in her hand and was poised on her toes. It was love at first sight for Manny. He was warmed by her smile.
That was the beginning of Manny's one and only love.
Once she appeared in a skater's costume. That was a month before Christmas. She had on a blue velvet jacket with a white fur collar. On her head she wore a blue velvet hat tied under her chin. Her skirt was short and fringed with white fur.
Manny was very cold that night, but her smile warmed him.
They had known each other a year and a month before Manny really knew she cared for him.

When the attendants had finally placed Manny in rest in the psychiatric ward in the hospital, Police Officer Mike Murphy, who had been his friend for many years, said to Police Officer Harold Anderson, "Sure beats watching little Manny operate for 20 years. Not one bit of trouble. Harmless as they come. The wham goes off his nut, but through a plate glass window and near kills a window-dresser. Ain't never seen before."
"Yeah," replied Officer Anderson, "That's the trouble with those harmless nuts. You never can tell what'll set them off."

Major Strikes

Marine Institute and the National Maritime Union—was set for today.
The effects of the strike have been slow to show up.
Only six ships were tied up in New York Friday.

In San Francisco, no vessels were scheduled to sail and there was no immediate way of measuring the scope of the walkout.
Seven ships were being picketed in New Orleans, and other ports reported similar situations. Union leaders said the number of vessels affected would mount over the weekend.

The main obstacle in the dispute is the union's demand to be given the right to bargain for crews of American-owned ships that are registered under foreign flags — so-called runaway ships. There are about 450 of these, mostly tankers.
The striking unions are the NMU with 37,999 members; Masters, Mates and Pilots with 12,000; Seafarers International Union with 23,000; Marine Engineers with 11,000; a purser's union with 500, and two unions of radio operators with a combined membership of about 1,500.

Father's Day

In the memory of every child is enshrined the thoughtful and devoted, self-sacrificing, happy comradeship of a GOOD FATHER.

It doesn't make any difference what your trade is, you are all the FATHER your child knows. Dad doesn't ask for a special day but let's give him one... pour on the attention and season it with tenderness.

Surprise him! Catch him with the guards of age and dignity down.

Let him be the center of all your plans on this one big day...

Father's Day. He may be gruff, and steady, and firm but he is an easy victim of love's attack. An x-ray picture of his heart would reveal true concern, you never dreamed could be there.

Take him to church this Father's Day. Gladden his heart this one day by making all your plans his plans.

The Churches of This Community, Are the Only Institutions Which Have as Their Main Function, the Transforming of Human Lives
They Are the Sign Boards Pointing the Way to God.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through this series of pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted... to combat
Communism on all front... to be faithful to God.
